Sociologist/ Clinical Psychologist

Colin Powell School
for Civic and Global Leadership

The City College of New York

After graduating in Sociology and Psychology, she completed her clinical master's degree with the thesis titled "An Examination of the Experiences of Psychologists Working in the Field of Violence Against Women through the Thematic Analysis Method." She also received training on human rights from The School of Human Rights.

In Switzerland, she had the opportunity to work/observe communication channels for connecting with different cultures without speaking the same language within the project "Leih Mir Dein Ohr" (Lend Me Your Ear). Subsequently, in Germany, she took part as a facilitator in art therapy-focused activities at Mehr Generation Haus (MGH) Sommer-Ferienspiele. Between 2017 and 2022, she conducted research on migrant women and children and worked as a sociologist and clinical psychologist in the field of war trauma.

In addition to these, she has worked in many non-governmental organizations, served as a clinical psychologist in a women's protection center, and continues her volunteer work in various associations.
